Ref. Sunset Terrace

Dear Lance,

Our culture today seems far more inclined to complain than to hand out a compliment or an expression of appreciation but that is exactly what I would like to do.

Sunset Terrace certainly presents its challenges typical of any job. However, to have a partner conduct themselves in a professional manner with the response to challenges as your team has demonstrated certainly deserves recognition. Thank you for your attention to detail and going the extra mile. There is not much traffic in the extra mile and you can be proud to be among those that stand out for the right reason.

Thanks again, we certainly look forward to a successful project and perhaps additional opportunities together in the near future.

Sincerely,

Andy Brubaker
